

ERRATUM

Activation and Function of the MAPKs and Their Substrates, the MAPK-Activated Protein Kinases

Marie Cargnello and Philippe P. Roux

Institute for Research in Immunology and Cancer, Molecular Biology Program, and Department of Pathology and Cell Biology, Faculty of Medicine, Université de Montréal, Montreal, Quebec, Canada

Volume 75, no. 1, p. 50–83, 2011. Page 53, Fig. 2: The arrow between JNK1/2/3 and MK2/3 should not appear in the figure; the figure should appear as shown below.

